Next Alliance Training Workshop Thursday, April 13
Dale Carnegie Seminars presenting “Dealing with Difficult People”

ST. CHARLES COUNTY, MO --- “Dealing with Difficult People” will be presented by Dale Carnegie Seminars at the next Alliance training program offered by the Economic Development Center (EDC) of St. Charles County on Thursday, April 13 at the Wentzville Holiday Inn at 900 Corporate Parkway off I-70.

This two-hour workshop will begin at 7:30 a.m. and is part of 16 professional training seminars scheduled for 2006. The instructor will be Jonathan Jones, executive vice president and general manager for Dale Carnegie – St. Louis and Midwest Performance Development, Inc.

Alliance members may attend the two-hour April 13 event for free. The general public is also welcome and admission is $100. Advance registration is required and going on now. Continuing education credit will be awarded to participants. Full breakfast will be served.

At this seminar, attendees will learn practical approaches to dealing with difficult people using time-tested Carnegie methods. Participants will also see how managing their attitude can impact the attitude of others.

The 2006 Alliance series is co-sponsored by 90.7 KWMU FM. Additional event sponsorships are still available.

The Alliance is an exciting new partnership for business people, community and civic leaders and takes the success of the EDC’s former Executive Forum program to new heights of training and networking.
